01 WHY THE JN FOUNDATION

Youth, education and innovation, in one room.

Hack876 is where a secondary-school student first turns an idea into something that works, with technology and a team beside them.

JN FOUNDATION MISSION

“The JN Foundation works with internal and external partners to identify, develop and provide technical and financial support to projects and programmes that focus on issues relating to rural development, health, housing, education, youth, community, crime and safety.”[2]

"Innovation is a must" is one of the JN Foundation's four guiding principles, and its mantra begins "Innovating, Inspiring, Impacting".[2]

In 2023, the "Building Future FinTech Innovators: Skills for Life" camp drew about 300 participants and focused on "careers and other opportunities in tech".[3]

Science Genius Jamaica, with Columbia University's Professor Christopher Emdin, used dancehall to get high-school students and teachers excited about science.[4]

WHAT THE JN FOUNDATION ALREADY BACKS

CULTURE MEETS STEM

Science Genius Jamaica

Dancehall lyric-writing as a way into high-school science, ending in the B.A.T.T.L.E.S. finals in July 2017.[4]

TECH CAREERS

Building Future FinTech Innovators

A 2023 camp of about 300 participants, with speakers from Microsoft, JN Bank and JN Group cyber security.[3]

43 YEARS

JN Scholars

Scholarships plus summer camps, leadership and financial literacy workshops, and a new mentorship programme.[5]

2026

NextGen leaders at JN

Young people met JN Group CEO Earl Jarrett and teams across the Group, from IT to Business Strategy.[6]
