HACK876 × CARDINAL LAW

PRIVATE PARTNERSHIP PROPOSAL

Every big idea eventually meets the real world.

Hack876 gives Jamaica's next generation of builders a place to start. Cardinal Law understands what happens when an idea is ready to become something more.

STUDENTS	SCHOOL NETWORK	DAY

ONE DAY TO BUILD SOMETHING THAT SHOULD EXIST.

The prototype is only the beginning.

Hack876 gives a young person one day to turn an idea into something tangible.

But if that idea keeps going, the questions change.

That is where the legal profession becomes part of the innovation ecosystem.

Meet Hack876.

Hack876 is a one-day build competition for approximately 80 secondary-school students from 5th Form through Upper 6th Form, working in teams of 3 to 4, roughly 20 teams in all.

Teams pick a real problem, use modern tools including AI, get guidance from mentors, and finish the day with a working prototype and a pitch to judges. It is not a school assignment and there is no answer key.

Our 9-school network in Kingston is made up of the schools where the Hack876 team currently has operating relationships. It is not an exclusive eligibility list.

Hack876 is open to eligible students beyond those schools.

Students from elsewhere in Kingston or other parts of Jamaica may apply, subject to capacity.

In this inaugural year, students outside our organized network may need to arrange their own transportation and, where relevant, lodging.

That is a year-one capacity constraint, not a limit on the long-term vision.

BUILD SOMETHING THAT SHOULD EXIST.

03 NOT JUST APPS

A hackathon is bigger than software.

Hack876 is an open build competition. Teams choose the problem and the medium.

And building is only one part of the day. Teams also have to explain who their idea is for, why it matters and what it would take to make it real.

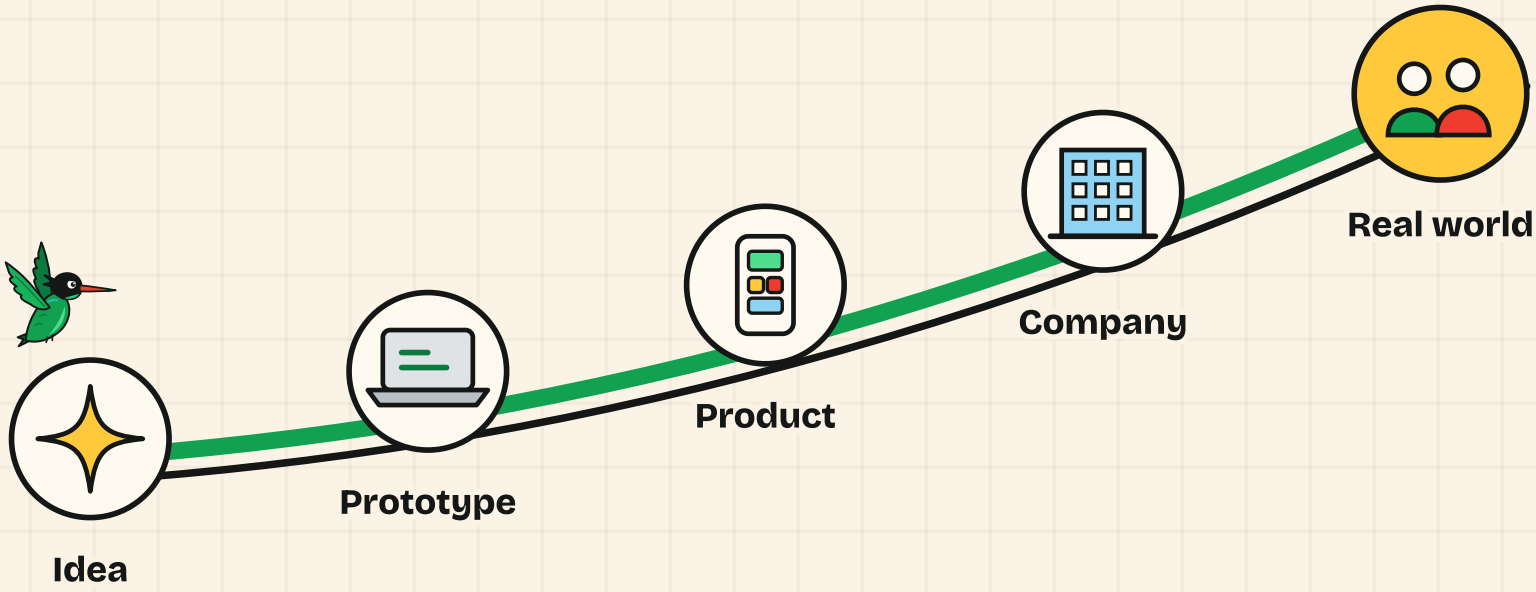

A team might build:

- A piece of software
- An AI tool
- An automation
- A data product
- A tool for small businesses
- Hardware
- A robot
- A physical prototype
- A resilience solution
- Something none of us expected

Innovation is interdisciplinary.

It always has been.

Somewhere between the prototype and the real world, a new set of questions appears.

- Intellectual property
- Privacy and data
- Contracts
- Capital
- Governance
- Employment
- Regulation
- Risk

Hack876 students do not need lawyers to take part. The point is simpler: the people who help ideas become durable institutions are part of the ecosystem too, and students should see them early.

Lawyers are part of how ideas last.

Why Cardinal?

This is not a traditional law firm being awkwardly attached to a technology event.

01

A modern Jamaican legal practice.

Cardinal describes itself as experienced, modern and professional,[1] a "dynamic and innovative law firm" formed by four attorneys, committed to "pragmatic, innovative, and client-focused legal services."[2] Its own line: "your partner in innovation in Kingston, Jamaica."[1]

02

Close to the innovation lifecycle.

Its intellectual property practice covers trademarks, patents, copyrights and "rights related to new technologies."[5] Its corporate work spans private equity, corporate finance, capital markets, M&A and data protection and privacy.[3] And it has written publicly about Jamaica's move to digital land titles, including the data security and privacy questions it raises.[6]

03

People students can actually learn from.

D'Angello was called to the Bar in 2018[4] and Abuna in 2019,[3] and both have already built serious practices. Their careers are close enough to feel imaginable to a student in Upper 6th Form.

Cardinal built its own modern practice. Hack876 is building its first version.

Cardinal is the result of four attorneys coming together to create a practice centred on excellence and diversity of expertise.

Hack876 asks a younger generation to do something similar on a smaller scale: bring different skills to one table and build something that did not exist that morning.

CLOSE TO FOUNDERS ALREADY

Abuna serves as company secretary and non-executive director for private entities including First Angels Caribbean Limited and Rev Up Jamaica Limited.[3]

First Angels Caribbean describes itself as a network committed to "supporting and accelerating the growth of promising Caribbean startups."[7]

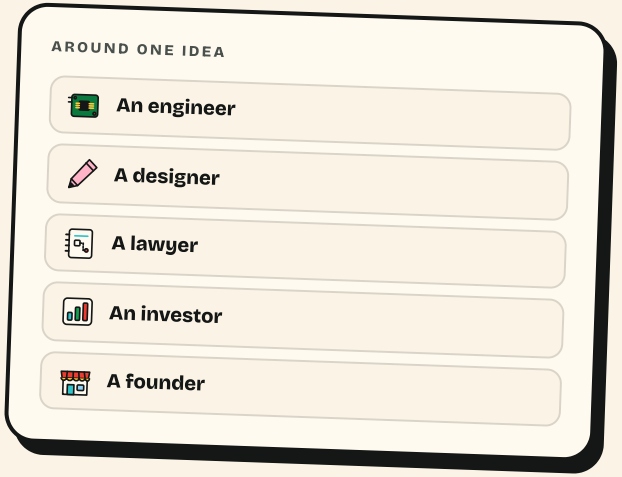

BUILDERS BACKING BUILDERS.

Some of the students in this room are walking the same corridors Abuna and D'Angello once walked.

Abuna Jones Campbell attended Campion College.[3] D'Angello G. Foster attended St. George's College.[4] Both schools are part of Hack876's school network.

That is not a reason to sponsor. It is a reason the room matters.

A student should be able to look across a Hack876 table and see not only engineers and technologists, but Jamaican lawyers, investors, executives and founders, and realize how many different careers can exist around a single idea.

9 schools. One room.

These are the schools where Hack876 currently has operating relationships. 1 of 9 has formally confirmed so far, and the list is not an exclusive eligibility boundary.

We are not looking for Cardinal's logo alone.

We would like Cardinal's thinking in the room.

01
Judges
Weighing the problem, the build and the thinking behind it.

02
Mentors
Bringing commercial and real-world thinking to teams during the day.

03
A short session
"Your prototype worked. Now what?" IP, privacy, contracts and business structure, age-appropriately.

04
Finals and awards
Cardinal people in the room when the finalists pitch.

05
An award judge
Helping judge a proposed Responsible Innovation Award.

BOUNDARIES WE WILL HOLD TO

Any legal content is general education, not individual legal advice.

No solicitor-client relationship with students is created or implied.

No sensitive legal information is collected from students.

Many participants are minors, and every session is designed with that in mind.

15 A DIRECT LINE

There is no faceless sponsorship inbox between Hack876 and Cardinal.

This proposal goes directly to Abuna Jones Campbell and D'Angello G. Foster, partners at Cardinal Law.

If Cardinal is interested, we would love for Abuna, D'Angello, or both to help decide what participation should actually look like from Cardinal's side.

QUESTIONS WE WOULD SHAPE TOGETHER

- ✓ Who from Cardinal should be in the room?
- ✓ Does a Responsible Innovation Award make sense?
- ✓ Would a short general-education session be useful?
- ✓ What level of financial commitment feels right?

A conversation, not a workload.

Deliberately focused.

Approximately 80 students, 20 teams, 9 existing school relationships and one day in Kingston.

Our vision is national. This inaugural staging does not have national-event resources, and we will not promise nationwide logistics.

Build the first version well.
Learn from it.
Earn the right to make the second one bigger.

No multi-year commitment required.

2027

Help make the first Hack876 possible.

That is the whole ask.

FUTURE POSSIBILITIES, ONLY IF BOTH SIDES FIND YEAR ONE VALUABLE. NOT COMMITMENTS.

- Cardinal lawyers returning as mentors and judges
- A recurring Responsible Innovation Award
- A simple legal and innovation workshop for future cohorts
- Founder and IP education for older Hack876 alumni
- Connections into Jamaica's wider entrepreneurial ecosystem
- Support as Hack876 expands beyond Kingston

HACK876 × CARDINAL LAW

The first version of something important usually looks small.

A student. A team. A problem. A prototype.

EVERY INSTITUTION WAS ONCE AN IDEA.

Hack876 gives young Jamaicans a place to begin. We would love Cardinal Law to help make that first room possible.
