WHY INTERCARIBBEAN

Youth engagement and education is one of the sponsorships interCaribbean reviews, alongside regional events that strengthen Caribbean connections.[1]

WHAT WE ARE ASKING

Return flights on the interCaribbean network for one or two Caribbean-based mentors or judges, or a travel voucher as the grand prize. Either is welcome.

WHAT IT MAKES POSSIBLE

A Caribbean-based mentor or judge can reach Kingston for the day, or the winning team is awarded travel with interCaribbean.

01 THE REQUEST

What a Travel Partner would provide.

Connecting Caribbean talent across islands is the natural fit. A flight brings someone to Kingston, or a voucher lets the winning team travel. Either is welcome.

- ✓ Either option is welcome. We are asking for one of them, not both.
- ✓ Return flights within the interCaribbean network for one or two Caribbean-based mentors or judges.
- ✓ A travel voucher as the grand prize for the winning team.

QUANTITIES, TIMING AND DELIVERY

One option only: one or two return flights inside the interCaribbean network, for Caribbean-based mentors or judges already involved with Hack876.

Or a travel voucher for the winning team, awarded at the event.

Working date Saturday, February 20, 2027, 8:00 AM to 7:30 PM, at Spanish Court Hotel. The date is tentative until schools confirm it. About 120 people in total.

WHY INTERCARIBBEAN

interCaribbean reviews sponsorships that contribute to youth engagement and education, and to regional events that strengthen Caribbean connections.[1]

Its route map is built for island-to-island travel and includes Kingston, alongside Providenciales, Barbados, Tortola, San Juan and Port of Spain.[2]

In December 2024 it partnered with the SVG Sailing Association so young sailors could travel to regattas, training and competitions across the Caribbean.[3]
