HACK876 × CARDINAL LAW

PRIVATE PARTNERSHIP PROPOSAL

Every big idea eventually meets the real world.

When a prototype works, new questions appear: who owns it, whose data it uses, and what you have promised. Cardinal answers those for a living.

WHAT HACK876 IS

A one-day build competition in Kingston for about 80 secondary-school students, 5th Form through Upper 6th Form, working in teams of 3 to 4. Teams pick a real problem and finish the day with a working prototype and a pitch to judges.

When: Saturday, February 20, 2027 (tentative)

Where: Spanish Court Hotel, Kingston (confirmed)

Who: About 80 students, roughly 20 teams

Organisers: Nadani Dixon and Stefen Ewers

WHY CARDINAL LAW

Cardinal Law is a Jamaican firm formed by four attorneys. Two of its partners attended Campion College and St. George's College, both in the Hack876 school network.

WHAT WE ARE ASKING

One short session from Cardinal's lawyers on what happens after a prototype works: ownership, privacy and contracts. Lawyers as mentors or judges are welcome too.

A monetary contribution is welcome and optional. Platinum is our invitation, and every level is set out in the appendix.

WHAT IT MAKES POSSIBLE

Students learn that ownership, privacy and trust are part of building something real, from people who advise on exactly that.

WHAT CARDINAL LAW RECEIVES

Cardinal's lawyers in front of about 80 students and their teachers for a day, recognition that matches any contribution, and a written recap.

THE NEXT STEP

A reply from Abuna Jones Campbell or D'Angello G. Foster on whether a session is possible, and whether Cardinal would also consider a contribution.

Why Cardinal?

This is not a traditional law firm being awkwardly attached to a technology event.

01

A modern Jamaican legal practice.

Cardinal describes itself as experienced, modern and professional,[1] a "dynamic and innovative law firm" formed by four attorneys, committed to "pragmatic, innovative, and client-focused legal services."[2] Its own line: "your partner in innovation in Kingston, Jamaica."[1]

02

Close to the innovation lifecycle.

Its intellectual property practice covers trademarks, patents, copyrights and "rights related to new technologies."[5] Its corporate work spans private equity, corporate finance, capital markets, M&A and data protection and privacy.[3] And it has written publicly about Jamaica's move to digital land titles, including the data security and privacy questions it raises.[6]

03

People students can actually learn from.

D'Angello was called to the Bar in 2018[4] and Abuna in 2019,[3] and both have already built serious practices. Their careers are close enough to feel imaginable to a student in Upper 6th Form.

02 MORE THAN MONEY

We are not looking for Cardinal's logo alone.

We would like Cardinal's thinking in the room.

01

Judges

Weighing the problem, the build and the thinking behind it.

02

Mentors

Bringing commercial and real-world thinking to teams during the day.

03

A short session

"Your prototype worked. Now what?" IP, privacy, contracts and business structure, age-appropriately.

04

Finals and awards

Cardinal people in the room when the finalists pitch.

BOUNDARIES WE WILL HOLD TO

Any legal content is general education, not individual legal advice.

No solicitor-client relationship with students is created or implied.

No sensitive legal information is collected from students.

Many participants are minors, and every session is designed with that in mind.

HACK876 × CARDINAL LAW

The first version of something important usually looks small.

A student. A team. A problem. A prototype.

EVERY INSTITUTION WAS ONCE AN IDEA.

Hack876 gives young Jamaicans a place to begin. We would love Cardinal Law to help make that first room possible.
